FINAL TRIBUTE PAID LOU GEHRIG IN TINY CHURCH

Service in Memory of Baseball Star in Christ Episcopal Church in Bronx Marked by Same Simplicity That Characterized His Life

New York, June 4.—(P)—In a service marked by the same simplicity that characterized his life, final tribute was paid Lou Gehrig this morning at Christ Episcopal church, the Bronx.

Gehrig, baseball's iron man, died Monday night after an illness of two years during which he courageously fought the imroads of an apparently incurable malady.

The service was read by the Rev. Gerald Barry from the Episcopal prayer book, and was completed in less than 10 minutes. Mr. Barry, after finishing the ritual, remarked simply:

PROGRESS REPORTED IN TRUCKING DISPUTE

Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Representatives of 179 overland trucking firms and their striking employees conferred through most of the night with federal and state labor conciliators, reporting today "some progress but no agreement yet."

The members of the A. F. L. General Teamsters Union left their jobs at midnight Saturday after three weeks of fruitless negotiating for a new contract, during which they demanded a 10 cents an hour wage increase over their present rate of 85 cents an hour.

Minor clashes between pickets and drivers who attempted to deliver goods over the 13-state area covered by the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association continued.

East is Given Advance Notice to Get Ready For Oil Shortage Soon With Prospects of Less Motoring

Nationwide Reduction of Five Degrees in Temperature of Oil-Heated Homes Suggested to Effect Ten Per Cent Saving in Fuel

PIPE LINE PROPOSED

Washington, June 4.—(P)—Secretary Ickes said today "all of us" would have "to make some kind of adjustments" to meet the prospective oil shortage which industry representatives have suggested might lead to gasless Sundays and less heat from oil burners.

As another conservation measure, Ickes has recommended establishment of nationwide daylight saving time, and it was learned today this probably will be recommended soon by the Office of Production Management.

Secretary Ickes' aides have estimated that Japan now is importing 60,000 to 70,000 barrels daily of oil from the United States, sending ships to the west coast for it.

Oil experts pointed out, however, the Japanese imports from this country bore little if any relation to the threatened petroleum shortage in eastern states, since the deficiency would result from lack of transportation from the southwestern oil fields to the east rather than a shortage of production and refining facilities.

The shortage, petroleum experts said, will begin in the east in July and become progressively more acute during the autumn months. To combat the approaching scarcity and to keep it from curtailing defense production, they recommend that rigid restrictions be imposed on the use of oil. Specifically, it was suggested that "gasless Sundays" be started, and that the temperature in oil-heated homes be kept five degrees lower this winter. No federal program has yet been formulated, however.

A full report on the situation was submitted yesterday to Secretary Ickes, defense petroleum coordinator, by a committee of the petroleum industry. The industry pledged its support "to any extent" in helping to meet the anticipated emergency.

Only last week Ickes, himself, mentioned the possibility of "gasless Sundays" to conserve the gasoline normally used by pleasure motorists.

The report of the oil men did not estimate how much gasoline could be saved in this manner, but it did state that a nationwide reduction of five degrees in the temperatures of oil-heated homes would effect a 10 per cent saving in the amount of fuel oil consumed.

The belief in some informed quarters was that every effort would be made to keep the fuel oil supply as close to normal as possible, especially as winter approaches.

BLUE LAW BILL CHANGES GIVEN LITTLE SUPPORT

Harrisburg, June 4.—(P)—The chairman of the House judiciary special committee expressed himself as skeptical today over the fate of legislation to increase fines for violating Pennsylvania's ancient "blue laws," but supporters asserted that "some action will have to be taken."

Reuben E. Cohen (D-Phila.), chairman of the committee studying a measure in the house to increase the fines from $4 to $25 for the first offense, $50 for the second, and $100 for subsequent violations, said he found "little sentiment on the committee for the changes."

Difficulties in enforcing the fines and differences in opinion between rural and urban communities led to the uncertainty, he explained, particularly since the legislature apparently is nearing adjournment.

On the other hand, Dr. William B. Forney, secretary of the Pennsylvania Lord's Day Alliance, asserted:

"I don't see how they can avoid doing something about it before they quit."

The house bill, introduced by Reuben Nagel (D-Beaver) and Herbert C. Gates (R-Armstrong), never has had a reading on the floor. A similar bill introduced in the senate by George Wade (R-Cumberland) likewise has been in the committee on law and order.

San Francisco, June 4.—(P)—The government set the brakes on rising food prices today, cracking down on a host of food distributors and processors with anti-trust indictments charging price fixing and monopoly.

Through its anti-trust division headed by Thurman Arnold, the Justice Department started legal action against five major branches of the California food industry and indicated that other suits of the same nature would follow.

Indictments, returned yesterday by two federal grand juries named as defendants nearly 200 individuals and corporations, some of the latter being among the nation's mostly well known food processing companies.

Altogether, yesterday's indictments represented the largest.

DEFENSE OF SYRIA IS MAPPED

London Advises Say That England Has Been Able To Take Necessary Precautions in Regard to Expected Major War Soon to Set the Whole Middle East Aflame; Landing of German Seaborne Troops Not Confirmed or Denied

EFFORTS CONTINUE TO INVOLVE VICHY REGIME

London, June 4.—(P)—Britain claimed today to have strengthened her hand for the great battle shaping up in the Middle East by two steps aimed at thwarting German strategy, but her position in Iraq apparently was delicate.

These preliminaries for what may be a portentous struggle for the Middle East's oil and control of the Suez canal were announced by the British as successfully completed:

1. Reoccupation of Mosul, the oil center of Iraq, by British troops.

2. "Necessary precautions in regard to Syria," the potential bridgehead for an Axis thrust into Iraq and back-door drive toward Suez.

Although order was said to have been restored, the Middle East general headquarters conceded that martial law had been declared by the Iraq government in Baghdad yesterday following the "serious rioting."

(Authorized German sources in Berlin indicated that Britain's troubles in Iraq may not be ended by the armistice and formation of a new regime yesterday. The Berlin view is that the new Iraq government is acting under protection of British bombers and armored cars and that the truce is only partly effective.)

A House of Commons inquest into Britain's Crete disaster and a parliamentary inquiry into conduct of the war as a whole were predicted by political correspondents. One said there was widespread dissatisfaction among members of Commons, who regard the loss of Crete as the price of "a grave lack of foresight on the part of responsible authorities."

An authoritative source, reporting precautionary measures concerning French-mandated Syria where German men and machines already have been reported, said the Iraq settlement "has enabled us to prepare for whatever may blow up in Syria."

A Vichy report that Gen. Maxime Weygand had been charged with defense of the French empire might be only "big talk" by the French government, he asserted. "As it is unlikely that such defense would remain single-handed" (Turn to Page Two)

LEGISLATURE IS STALLED AGAIN BY PARTY LINES

Harrisburg, June 4.—(P)—A new outbreak of the five months long controversy between the Republican Senate and the Democratic House has brought action of the 1941 legislature almost to a standstill with both branches declining to vote on each other's proposals.

The strategy was adopted simultaneously yesterday when the general assembly convened for a five-day week in hopes of final adjournment of the session on June 14.

The House recommitted one Senate bill, declined to act on four more by passing over them until today, and failed to call up for a vote 11 that were in position for a last reading.

In retaliation, the Senate placed five House bills on the postponed calendar, failed to act on five more and amended four. At least 26 votes are needed to remove a bill from the postponed calendar and the Senate Democrats number only 18.

Under the circumstances, only four bills headed toward either the governor for his signature or a conference committee for a compromise version.

A new study of the $542,000,000 budget as revised by the Democratic House was taken up meanwhile by Governor James and Senator E. (Turn to Page Two)

Heavy Rains Cause Flood Danger Along Monongahela River

Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Swollen by heavy rains, the Monongahela river headed toward flood stage today in several communities but Weatherman W. S. Brotzman said there was little danger of serious damage unless the rains continued.

The highest level was reported at Greensboro in Greene county where the river passed the 22 foot mark at 7 a. m. today. Brotzman said the river was expected to reach the flood stage of 30 feet sometime tonight.

The weather forecaster said the rainfall is expected to taper off into light showers tonight and that the river was not expected to go much above 30 feet. Tomorrow's forecast calls for "generally fair" weather.

Brotzman said the water would fall to reach flood stage in Pittsburgh by about five feet. A peak of about 20 feet is expected at the confluence in Pittsburgh of the Monongahela and Allegheny tomorrow morning. The Allegheny was virtually stationary.

TO REOPEN PLANT

Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Striving to expedite defense production, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation will resume operations May 16 at its New Castle, Pa. plant which has not operated on a plant-wide basis since late 1939. About 1000 additional workers will be employed, the corporation said, augmenting a force of about 650 which has been employed in the tin house of the plant.

British merchant tonnage at out of the war was estimated at about 21,000,000 tons. British figures on Allied shipping losses through April total approximately 6,000,000 tons.

The newspaper Boersen Zeitung, commenting on these figures, said Britain thus had lost during 21 months of the war as much shipping as English shipyards were able to construct in 11 years of peace.

Scuffing at the idea Britain's need for ships could be filled by the United States in time to save her from defeat, the paper declared that according to English figures only 27 vessels totaling 21,000 tons were launched in American shipyards during the past four months.

This new construction, it was pointed out, is only one-third of Britain's reported shipping losses for May alone—estimated by the German High Command at 746,000 tons.

BUND IS OUSTED IN NEW JERSEY

Trenton, N. J., June 4.—(P)—Its charter outlawed by the legislature, the German-American Bund auxiliary disclosed today through counsel that it had turned over its Camp Nordland at Andover, N. J., to 400 mortgages and surrendered the charter to the secretary of state.

Wilbur V. Keegan said the auxiliary informed him it surrendered the charter yesterday and filed a deed of sale to the mortgages on Monday.

His announcement came after passage last night by the legislature of a law repealing the auxiliary's charter and incorporation. Governor Charles Edison immediately signed the bill.

Camp Nordland was raided Memorial Day by deputies led by Sheriff Denton J. Quick on a warrant.

OPERATORS AND MINERS TO HEAR BOARD FINDINGS RELEASES BRITISH VESSELS

Hinging Upon Acceptance Or Refusal of Terms is Threatened New Strike Of 400,000 Workers in Seven-State Bituminous Industry

OTHER MAJOR CASES

By the Associated Press
The Defense Mediation Board called together in Washington today representatives of northern and southern soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers (U. M. W.) to hear board recommendations for settlement of their wage contract controversy.

Hinging upon acceptance or refusal of the terms was a threatened new strike of 400,000 coal miners in the seven-state Appalachian bituminous industry.

The recommendations were to be made public after they had been submitted to participants in the three-way controversy, but board officials said the closed parleys might last until tomorrow.

The conference was postponed from the morning until 2:30 this afternoon.

A board panel headed by W. H. Davis, vice-chairman, began drafting the recommendations 10 days ago after efforts to mediate the dispute failed. The board has no power to enforce its recommendations, but following President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency, Davis said:

"The president said that the recommendations of the mediation board should be followed. I assume he meant what he said."

Two other major cases engaged board members.

A panel considered the threatened strike of United Auto Workers (U. A. W.) at the Inglewood, Calif., plant of North American Aviation Corporation, while another group (Turn to Page Two)

More Than Half Merchant Fleet With Which England Started War Sunk And She is "Bleeding to Death" German Newspapers Declare

NEW BLOWS PLANNED

Berlin, June 4.—(P)—More than half the merchant fleet with which Britain started the war has been sunk and she is "bleeding to death," German newspapers declared today even as Nazi armed forces were reported preparing crushing new blows at her empire.

Since the beginning of the conflict, German sea and air units have destroyed a total of 11,664,000 tons of British shipping, DNE, official German news agency asserted.

British merchant tonnage at out of the war was estimated at about 21,000,000 tons. British figures on Allied shipping losses through April total approximately 6,000,000 tons.

MUSMANNO ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR JUDGE

Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Judge Michael A. Musmanno, crusader against drunken drivers, announced his candidacy today for the State Superior Court.

In a brief statement, the common pleas court jurist, long prominent in Democratic circles, said he would seek the seat vacated by Judge William M. Farker, who recently was elevated to the State Supreme Court.

Judge Musmanno has been on the common pleas bench in Allegheny county for ten years. He joined in one five months period, 413 motorists convicted of operating cars under the influence of liquor.

Prior to his election as Judge, Musmanno served two terms in the state legislature where he fostered the bill which abolished the coal and iron police. He wrote a book on the miners' lives which was later made into a motion picture, "Black Fury."

He served in the army during the World War and rose to the rank of captain.

VOTE NEAR ON BILL TO PERMIT HEAVIER TRUCKS

Harrisburg, June 4.—(P)—The Senate neared a final vote today on a measure to allow heavier motor trucks to traverse Pennsylvania highways after voting down a proposed amendment which would have required them to travel at least 15 miles an hour on the open road.

The Senate highways committee sharply restricted the weight maximums proposed by the House, leading to belief in many quarters that the bill eventually would be placed in the hands of joint conference committee.

CLOSE STUDENT OF PROGRESS OF WAR

By the Associated Press
Berlin, June 4.—Former Kaiser Wilhelm II of Imperial Germany died today at his exile estate of Doorn in the quiet backwash of a new German conquest almost 23 years after he fled from the crumbling failure of his own European war plan.

DNE, German official news agency, reported from Amsterdam that the 82-year-old, white-bearded former emperor died at 11:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m. EST) in a sudden relapse of an illness which brought members of his family to his bedside last week.

An intestinal disorder, complicated at the last by a lung embolism, caused his death.

Even in death, the "old man of Doorn" is not to return to the land he once ruled.

He is to be buried at Doorn next Monday but, on the orders of Adolf Hitler, a military funeral with full honors is to be accorded imperial Germany's last emperor.

The German High Command has taken full charge of the military phase of the funeral, a token, perhaps, that reconciliation between the fuhrer and the former emperor had been complete.

At his bedside when he died were only a few close members of his family: his second wife, Princess Hermine; his daughter, the Duchess of Brunswick; and his grandsons, Louis Ferdinand, Karl and Franz Joseph, and the latter's wife, Princess Henrietta.

The first kaiserin died April 11, 1921, and was buried at Potsdam.

The former emperor's eldest living son and successor as head of the Hohenzollern family, Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, had been at father's side earlier, but left late last week when the former kaiser seemed to rally.

Second in the family line, Prince Louis Ferdinand, also was away from Doorn.

With Hitler's explicit permission, the flag of the former ruling Prussian house also flew at half-staff from the Netherlands palace, now the administration building of the Hohenzollern family, and from the palace of William I, both in Berlin, as well as from the Cecilienhof, the castle of the Crown Prince at Potsdam.

The flag has a black iron cross against a white field, with the royal Prussian arms in gold in the center, topped by a crown in gold.

A number of generals and admirals who served in the Kaiser's imperial forces will go to Doorn for the rites and Hitler has placed a special train at the disposal.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE FLOOD DANGER ALONG MONONGAHELA RIVER
Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Swollen by heavy rains, the Monongahela river headed toward flood stage today in several communities but Weatherman W. S. Brotzman said there was little danger of serious damage unless the rains continued.

The highest level was reported at Greensboro in Greene county where the river passed the 22 foot mark at 7 a. m. today. Brotzman said the river was expected to reach the flood stage of 30 feet sometime tonight.

The weather forecaster said the rainfall is expected to taper off into light showers tonight and that the river was not expected to go much above 30 feet. Tomorrow's forecast calls for "generally fair" weather.

Brotzman said the water would fail to reach flood stage in Pittsburgh by about five feet. A peak of about 20 feet is expected at the confluence in Pittsburgh of the Monongahela and Allegheny tomorrow morning. The Allegheny was virtually stationary.

LEGISLATURE IS STALLED AGAIN BY PARTY LINES
Harrisburg, June 4.—(P)—A new outbreak of the five months long controversy between the Republican Senate and the Democratic House has brought action of the 1941 legislature almost to a standstill with both branches declining to vote on each other's proposals.

The strategy was adopted simultaneously yesterday when the general assembly convened for a five-day week in hopes of final adjournment of the session on June 14.

The House recommitted one Senate bill, declined to act on four more by passing over them until today, and failed to call for a vote 11 that were in position for a last reading.

In retaliation, the Senate placed five House bills on the postponed calendar, failed to act on five more and amended four. At least 26 votes are needed to remove a bill from the postponed calendar and the Senate Democrats number only 18.

Under the circumstances, only four bills headed toward either the governor for his signature or a conference committee for a compromise version.

A new study of the $542,000,000 budget as revised by the Democratic House was taken up meanwhile by Governor James and Senator E. (Turn To Page Two)

BUND IS OUSTED IN NEW JERSEY
Trenton, N. J., June 4.—(P)—Its charter outlawed by the legislature, the German-American Bund auxiliary disclosed today through counsel that it had turned over its Camp Nordland at Andover, N. J., to 400 mortgagees and surrendered the charter to the secretary of state.

Wilbur V. Keegan said the auxiliary informed him it surrendered the charter yesterday and filed a deed of sale to the mortgagees on Monday.

His announcement came after passage last night by the legislature of a law repealing the auxiliary's charter and incorporation. Governor Charles Edison immediately signed the bill.

Camp Nordland was raided Memorial Day by deputies led by Sheriff Denton J. Quick on a warrant.

BERLIN CLAIMS BRITAIN'S SEA LOSSES HURTING

More Than Half Merchant Fleet With Which England Started War Sunk And She is "Bleeding to Death" German Newspapers Declare

NEW BLOWS PLANNED

Berlin, June 4.—(P)—More than half the merchant fleet with which Britain started the war has been sunk and she is "bleeding to death," Germans declared today, even as Nazi armed forces were reported preparing crushing new blows at her empire.

Since the beginning of the conflict, German sea and air units have destroyed a total of 11,664,000 tons of British shipping, DNE, official German news agency asserted.

(British merchant tonnage at outset of the war was estimated at about 21,000,000 tons. British figures on Allied shipping losses through April total approximately 6,000,000 tons.)

The newspaper Boersen Zeitung, commenting on these figures, said Britain thus had lost during 21 months of the war as much shipping as English shipyards were able to construct in 11 years of peace.

Scuffing at the idea Britain's need for ships could be filled by the United States in time to save her from defeat, the paper declared that according to English figures only 27 vessels totaling 221,000 tons were launched in American shipyards during the past four months.

This new construction, it was pointed out, is only one-third of Britain's reported shipping losses for May alone—estimated by the German High Command at 746,000 tons.

VOLANT ROBBERY IS RECALLED BY APPEAL
Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Serving a life term for kidnapping and armed bank robbery, Harold M. Brest, 32, of Sharon, Pa., has launched his third attempt to win his freedom from Alcatraz.

Brest twice was convicted of robbing the First National Bank of Volant, Pa., of a total of $9,100 in two robberies and of kidnapping Lester Delorma, Sharon salesman, in Delorma's auto, during a getaway attempt.

Federal Judge F. P. Schoonmaker yesterday granted Brest's petition to obtain court records of his second conviction here in June 1939. Brest sought the records with the intent of filing a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Musmanno Announces Candidacy for Judge
Pittsburgh, June 4.—(P)—Judge Michael A. Musmanno, crusader against drunken drivers, announced his candidacy today for the State Superior Court.

In a brief statement, the common pleas court jurist, long prominent in Democratic circles, said he would seek the seat vacated by Judge William M. Parker, who recently was elevated to the State Supreme Court.

Judge Musmanno has been on the common pleas bench in Allegheny county for ten years. He jailed in one five months period, 413 motorists convicted of operating cars under the influence of liquor.

Prior to his election as judge, Musmanno served two terms in the state legislature where he fostered the bill which abolished the coal and iron police. He wrote a book on the miners lives which was later made into a motion picture, "Black Fury."

He served in the army during the World War and rose to the rank of captain.

OPERATORS AND MINERS TO HEAR BOARD FINDINGS

Hinging Upon Acceptance Or Refusal of Terms is Threatened New Strike Of 400,000 Workers in Seven-State Bituminous Industry

OTHER MAJOR CASES

By the Associated Press
The Defense Mediation Board called together in Washington today representatives of northern and southern soft coal operators and the United Mine Workers (CIO) to hear board recommendations for settlement of their wage contract controversy.

Hinging upon acceptance or refusal of the terms was a threatened new strike of 400,000 coal miners in the seven-state Appalachian bituminous industry. The walkout was postponed by President John L. Lewis of the UMW pending the board's report.

The recommendations were to be made public after they had been submitted to participants in the three-way controversy, but board officials said the closed parleys might last until tomorrow.

The conference was postponed from the morning until 2:30 this afternoon.

A board panel headed by W. H. Davis, vice-chairman, began drafting the recommendations 10 days ago after efforts to mediate the dispute failed. The board has no power to enforce its recommendations, but following President Roosevelt's proclamation of an unlimited national emergency, Davis said:

"The president said that the recommendations of the mediation board should be followed. I assume he meant what he said."

Two other major cases engaged board members.

A panel considered the threatened strike of United Auto Workers (CIO) at the Ingwood, Calif., plant of North American Aviation Corporation, while another group (Turn To Page Two)

VOTE NEAR ON BILL TO PERMIT HEAVIER TRUCKS
Harrisburg, June 4.—(P)—The Senate neared a final vote today on a measure to allow heavier motor trucks to traverse Pennsylvania highways after voting down a proposed amendment which would have required them to travel at least 15 miles an hour on the open road.

The Senate highways committee sharply restricted the weight maximums proposed by the House, leading to belief in many quarters that the bill eventually would be placed in the hands of joint conference committee.

RELEASES BRITISH VESSELS

Agreement Announced by Maritime Commission is Seen in Some Official Circles in Washington as Further Evidence of England's Acute Need for Cargo Tonnage in the Battle of Her Ocean Lifelines

DELIVERIES RAPIDLY BEING SPEEDED UP

Washington, June 4.—(P)—An agreement for American merchantmen to take over all British shipping routes from the United States and Canada to Australia and New Zealand was regarded here today as the probable forerunner of a complete British withdrawal from maritime activities outside the war zone.

Such a withdrawal, with United States vessels taking over the abandoned routes, long has been considered likely, but the first formal action did not come until late yesterday.

In a brief formal announcement, the Maritime Commission reported the agreement and said that a dozen British vessels would be released for Great Britain's war effort.

The agreement was interpreted in some official circles here as further evidence of Britain's acute need for cargo tonnage in the battle of her ocean lifelines.

The Maritime Commission's announcement capped a day that saw various aspects of Britain's lifeline battle figure prominently in capital developments.

One provocative disclosure was that "a number" of the commission's new cargo vessels had already been converted into aircraft carriers, John J. Dempsey, a member of the commission, gave the information to a senate committee investigating the defense program.

He also said that merchant ship deliveries were expected to reach the one-a-day rate by November. He gave the number of vessels now under construction as 746.

Dempsey's testimony contained the first official indication that work on converted carriers had been completed or that several ships were involved. Previous information was merely to the effect that conversion work was proceeding on one (Turn To Page Two)

SHEFFIELD HIGH GRADUATES ARE GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Sheffield, June 4—The fifty-first annual commencement of Sheffield High School was held last night in the school auditorium, where diplomas were presented to the 50 young men and women who comprise the Class of 1941.

The commencement speaker was Dr. J. Ruskin Howe, president of Otterbein College, who prescribed for his listeners a "Formula for Greatness."

Not wealth, fame or power, as many might suppose, are the ingredients of greatness, the speaker said. Rather, they consist of an "enlightened patriotism," a "reverent faith" and a "worthwhile share in the work of the world." An enlightened patriotism will lead us to conduct our lives in such manner that we will never have to take recourse to armed force to preserve our place in the world, and a reverent faith is one which will result in our growing out, away from ourselves, rather than in on ourselves with resulting stultification, Dr. Howe declared.

Bruce Smith, member of the high school faculty, introduced the speaker.

Student speakers on the program were Miss Katherine O'Leary, Joseph Fitzgerald and Miss Joan Spencer. Miss O'Leary, top honor student of the classical course, gave the salutatory on "Vocations." Mr. Fitzgerald, first honor student of the general course, gave the class history, prefacing it with a brief exposition on "Americanism." The valedictory was given by Miss Joan Spencer, top commercial course student. She spoke on "Pillars of Tomorrow."

The presentation of the diplomas, which occurred immediately following Dr. Howe's address, was by C. H. Whitaker, president of the school board, and L. O. Eisenhauer, principal of the high school.

The program also included selections by the high school orchestra, under the direction of R. W. Gittings, a baritone horn solo by Elwood Kinney and a selection by a mixed quartet composed of Janey Jones, LaVern Schuler, Hazel Samuelson and Isabella Heeter. The exercises closed with the singing of the Alma Mater by the Senior Class and benediction by the Rev. Frederick Smith.

The motto of the class of 1941 is, "Forward We Go." Its flower, the iris, and the colors, silver and blue. The faculty advisor was Orris Brown. The class officers were: Elwood Kinney, president; LaVern Schuler, vice president; Marjorie Crommiller, secretary; Arville Dodge, treasurer.

Consisting of 19 girls and 31 boys, the class personnel is as follows: Eugene Champion, Betty Finerty, Janey Jones, Elwood Kinney, Christine Nelson, Catherine O'Leary, Carl Anderson, Reginald Aurilio, Glenn Barton, Roy Brush, Donald Burns, William Christenson, Robert Coquer, Joseph Fitzgerald, Willis Geer, Gerald McDowell, James McGuire, George Miller, Jr., Richard Okerberg, George Olson, Paul Pochatko, Wayne Russ, Harlan Samuelson, LaVern Schuler, John Simko, Gladys Cox, Isabel Hecter, Veronica Haden, Lloyd Albaugh, Frank Aurilio, Mary Aurilio, Donald Beckwith, Winifred Benson, Lois Blake, Pauline Carlson, Pauline Corte, Arville Dodge, Doris Erickson, Bertha Etkon, Frances Gronie, Eugene Jenkins, Beulah Kitchin, John Lloyd, Robert Newman, Mary Pat O'Connor, Peter Otto, Ernest Owen, Peter Schultz, Joan Spencer, Eugene Turnwall.

Two ships as navy experiment. Small airplane carriers traveling with convoys have been mentioned as a likely answer to the double threat of submarine and long-range bomber attack. Dempsey's statement that they were for navy use apparently eliminated the possibility of their transfer to Britain for this purpose, at least for the present. It was pointed out, however, that additional carriers were likely to increase the effectiveness of the patrol system.

President Roosevelt conferred yesterday with Admiral King, commander of the Atlantic fleet and the Atlantic patrol, but he was not at all communicative at his press conference later.

Asked how the patrol was "coming along," Mr. Roosevelt smiled that it was coming along.

In announcing the taking over of British shipping services to the antipodes, the Maritime Commission gave no details.

The British have continued extensive operations outside the war zone, and this has resulted in criticism by some American operators who have been asked to give up ships either for transfer to Britain, or for diversion from regular runs to the service of the British.

FIRE DESTROYS TIONA SERVICE STATION TODAY

Fire of undetermined origin, which was discovered between three and four o'clock this morning, completely destroyed a service station and living quarters at Tiona, owned by J. M. DeFoy, who estimated the loss at approximately $5,000.

Mr. DeFoy, his wife and small daughter, Gladys, and another child, Barbara Ann Lubold, of Kane, were sleeping in the apartment on the second floor when the fire broke out. Mr. DeFoy was awakened by the smoke and investigation disclosed that the entire front of the building was in flames.

Those in the building escaped through a rear door in their night clothing. All of their personal belongings, as well as the building and its equipment, was lost in the flames.

The Clarendon Fire Department was summoned, but the flames had gained such headway that they were unable to save any portion of the building.

Mr. DeFoy said he carried only $1,500 insurance on the place.

He recently purchased the service station from Carlo Lazzarino.

Incidentally, the truck in which the Clarendon Fire Department made the run to Tiona this morning was formerly owned by the Warren department and was delivered to the Clarendon company last night. It was replaced in the Warren department by a new truck which arrived a few days ago.

Nationally, experts emphasized, there is plentiful oil production. The crux of the prospective problem, as the oil men's report noted, is transformation. The east is the largest oil-consuming section of the country and its needs have been increasing due to the concentration of defense industries. But facilities for delivering oil to the northeastern seaboard area have been reduced by the transfer to British service of 50 of the 250-odd tankers in America's coastwise fleet. And further transfers are more than likely.

Both Jokes and the oil men agreed that there was urgent need for the construction of an oil pipeline from Louisiana and Texas to the New York-Pennsylvania area. The report said that a 24-inch line would move as much oil as 65 tankers. It would cost $70,000,000 and require a year or 15 months to build.

The report also discussed various other methods of reducing the transportation problem, including the use of rail tank cars, water barges, and the speeding up of work on the 140 tankers now under construction.

Vote Near on Bill to Permit Heavier Trucks

(From Page One)

The present law stipulates that no truck can carry more than 18,000 pounds on a single axle and that tractor-trailers cannot exceed 39,000 pounds in weight. The Senate committee proposed an axle limit of 19,001 pounds and a tractor-trailer maximum of 42,001.

As originally introduced in the House by Representatives Ira T. Fiss (R-Snyder) and Ellwood E. Welsh (D-Philadelphia), the axle limit would have been upped to 22,400 pounds and the tractor-trailers to 50,000. These figures were approved by the house after a prolonged debate.

In a letter to the senate, Edward Goggin, general manager of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, pointed out that Maryland had recently enacted a law with the maximum weights proposed in the House for Pennsylvania.

Defense of Syria is Mapped

very long—any more than the Italian defense of Libya remained single-handed.

Sharing the spotlight with French-mandated Syria were Vichy's other strongholds where, the News Chronicle declared, the Nazis have been given the right to use six key naval bases along the Mediterranean and the South Atlantic coast of Africa.

Reports were circulated here, too, that the Reich was trying to shove France into the war again, this time against her former allies—in a fight over Syria and other parts of her empire in order to complete France's cooperation in an all-out war effort.

A British Broadcasting Corporation report last night quoted the German-controlled radio in Paris as saying: "From the economic as well as the moral point of view France lines up at the side of Germany. Vichy and Paris mean to behave toward Berlin in the same way as Washington is behaving toward London. France will help Germany in her fight against the British empire to the fullest extent possible without entering into war against Britain."

Reports from Turkey, unconfirmed elsewhere, said German troops had entered Syria by sea and that German "tourists" were flowing across Turkey to Syria by train. Several hundred German planes already have been reported operating in Syria. (Unconfirmed reports were heard, too, in Vichy, that France had sent 150 army planes to Syria recently.)

British newspapers and public alike are demanding that Britain "act quickly and stop placating Vichy."

A Vichy report that British planes dropped four bombs on oil supplies at Beirut, in Lebanon, was printed in London newspapers without official confirmation.

British coastal command bombers bombed the German-occupied French Port of Le Havre and an airbase near Cherbourg yesterday, the Air Ministry reported.

There was not much activity by German raiders over England during the night, but bombs were dropped in the east, northeast and southwest of England causing some casualties and damage, the ministry said.

that since February Britain had lost an average of 730,000 tons monthly.

Adolf Hitler's newspaper, the Voelkischer Beobachter, said President Roosevelt failed to state the case when he said in his fireside chat May 27 that "the present Nazi sinkings of merchant ships is more than three times as high as the capacity of British shipyards to replace them."

In reality, the paper declared, sinkings during the past few months have been more than 10 times as great as British building capacity.

Voelkischer Beobachter prophesied darkly that the setbacks already dealt Britain would be followed by additional blows "until the arch enemy of Europe, the tyrant of the oceans, is knocked to the ground."

SHEFFIELD HIGH GRADUATES ARE GIVEN DIPLOMAS

Sheffield, June 4—The fifty-first annual commencement of Sheffield High School was held last night in the school auditorium, where diplomas were presented to the 50 young men and women who comprise the Class of 1941.

The commencement speaker was Dr. J. Ruskin Howe, president of Otterbein College, who prescribed for his listeners a "Formula for Greatness."

Not wealth, fame or power, as many might suppose, are the ingredients of greatness, the speaker said. Rather, they consist of an "enlightened patriotism," "reverent faith" and a "worthwhile share in the work of the world." An enlightened patriotism will lead to conduct our lives in such manner that we will never have to take recourse to armed force to preserve our place in the world, and a reverent faith is one which will result in our growing out, away from ourselves, rather than in on ourselves with resulting stultification, Dr. Howe declared.

Bruce Smith, member of the high school faculty, introduced the speaker.

Student speakers on the program were Miss Katherine O'Leary, Joseph Fitzgerald and Miss Joan Spencer. Miss O'Leary, top honor student of the classical course, gave the salutatory on "Vocations." Mr. Fitzgerald, first honor student of the general course, gave the class history, prefacing it with a brief exposition on "Americanism." The valedictory was given by Miss Joan Spencer, top commercial course student. She spoke on "Pilots of Tomorrow."

The presentation of the diploma, which occurred immediately following Dr. Howe's address, was by C. H. Whitaker, president of the school board, and L. O. Eisenhauer, principal of the high school.

The program also included selections by the high school orchestra, under the direction of R. W. Gittings, a baritone horn solo by Edward Kinney and a selection by mixed quartet composed of Janey Jones, LaVern Schuler, Harlan Jones, and Isabella Heeter. The exercises closed with the singing of the Alma Mater by the Senior Class and benediction by the Rev. Frederick Smith.

The motto of the class of 1941 is, "Forward We Go!" Its flower, the iris, and the colors, silver and blue. The faculty advisor was Mrs. Brown.

The class officers are: Elwood Kinney, president; LaVern Schuler, vice president; Marjorie Crommiller, secretary; Arvilla Dodge, treasurer.

or two ships as navy experiment.

Small airplane carriers traveling with convoys have been mentioned as a likely answer to the double threat of submarine and long-range bomber attack. Dempsey's statement that they were for navy use apparently eliminated the possibility of their transfer to Britain for this purpose, at least for the present. It was pointed out, however, that additional carriers were likely to increase the effectiveness of the patrol system.

In announcing the taking over of British shipping services to the antipodes, the Maritime Commission gave no details.

The British have continued extensive operations outside the war zone, and this has resulted in criticism by some American operators who have been asked to give up ships either for transfer to Britain, or for diversion from regular runs to the service of the British.

FIRE DESTROYS TIONA SERVICE STATION TODAY

Fire of undetermined origin, which was discovered between three and four o'clock this morning, completely destroyed a service station and living quarters at Tiona, owned by J. M. DeFoy, who estimated the loss at approximately $5,000.

Mr. DeFoy, his wife and small daughter, Gladys, and another child, Barbara Ann Lubold, of Kane, were sleeping in the apartment on the second floor when the fire broke out. Mr. DeFoy was awakened by the smoke and investigation disclosed that the entire front of the building was in flames.

Those in the building escaped through a rear door in their night clothing. All of their personal belongings, as well as the building and its equipment, was lost in the flames.

The Clarendon Fire Department was summoned, but the flames had gained such headway that they were unable to save any portion of the building.

Mr. DeFoy said he carried only $1,500 insurance on the place. He recently purchased the service station from Carlo Lazzarino.

Incidentally, the truck in which the Clarendon Fire Department made the run to Tiona this morning was formerly owned by the Warren department and was delivered to the Clarendon company last night. It was replaced in the Warren department by a new truck which arrived a few days ago.

FOREST PICNIC AREAS OPEN TO USE OF PUBLIC

The time of year is again here when almost everyone finds pleasant diversion in packing a picnic lunch or supper and eating out of doors. The Forest Service of the Department of Agriculture has constructed eight areas on Allegheny National Forest for this very purpose. Forest Supervisor R. E. Hemingway stated today that all of the areas are now available for picnicking.

At some of the areas there is still some maintenance and clean-up work in progress, but this should not interfere seriously with picnicking use. The swimming facilities at Twin Lakes and Loleta cannot be made available until the last Saturday in June. This activity must be supervised and funds for this purpose are only sufficient to provide the necessary safety and supervision for the period from June 28 to September 1.

Administrators and lifeguards will be on duty June 28 to look after the many swimmers who flock to these popular areas.

Picnic parties should provide themselves with small axes as the wood piles contain only pole lengths. The member of each party designated as "woodsman" should take his axe to the woodpile and use the chopping block provided. This will save littering the picnic site and possibly save other members of the party from injury from flying sticks of wood. Help keep the areas presentable and come often, said Supervisor Hemingway.

More Power ... Lower Cost

That's why Heavy Industry and Chrysler Cars have Fluid Drive

HEAVY INDUSTRY... Diesel-powered ocean vessels... great double-deck busses... heavy haulage tractor trucks... massive power plants... first used Fluid Drive.

They sought—and found in Fluid Drive—power transmission as flexible as steam.

But they demanded efficiency and economy. They required the ability to pick up great loads easily... they demanded savings in operation and in upkeep.

And so industry has increasingly adopted Fluid Drive.

Chrysler engineers were first to see the immense advantages of Fluid Drive in a motor car. They perfected and adopted this scientific principle... gave it to the public first in Chrysler cars three years ago.

Now Chrysler's perfected Fluid Drive is available on all Chrysler models.

Fluid Drive gives you double economy in your Chrysler—first, efficient application of power; second, longer car life because of lessened wear and strain from jerks and jolts.

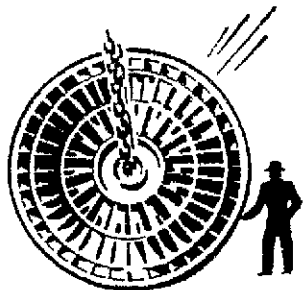

Why shift gears? Why pump a clutch? Why not save on both operation and upkeep?

The nearest Chrysler dealer cordially invites you to make a real test of Fluid Drive efficiency and ease.

More Power ... Lower Cost

That's why Heavy Industry and Chrysler Cars have Fluid Drive

●HEAVY INDUSTRY... Diesel-powered ocean vessels... great double-deck busses... heavy haulage tractor trucks... massive power plants... first used Fluid Drive.

They sought—and found in Fluid Drive—power transmission as flexible as steam.

But they demanded efficiency and economy. They required the ability to pick up great loads easily... they demanded savings in operation and in upkeep.

And so industry has increasingly adopted Fluid Drive.

Chrysler engineers were first to see the immense advantages of Fluid Drive in a motor car. They perfected and adopted this scientific principle... gave it to the public first in Chrysler cars three years ago.

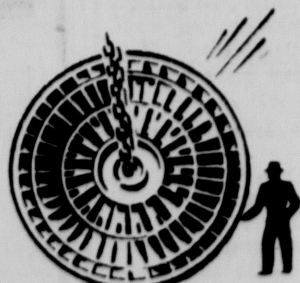

Now Chrysler's perfected Fluid Drive is available on all Chrysler models.

Fluid Drive gives you double economy in your Chrysler—first, efficient application of power; second, longer car life because of lessened wear and strain from jerks and jolts.

Why shift gears? Why pump a clutch? Why not save on both operation and upkeep?

The nearest Chrysler dealer cordially invites you to make a real test of Fluid Drive efficiency and ease.

The pastor-to-be also sent word that he will marry prior to his arrival here. The pastorate of the Ludlow Lutheran church is also included in the charge Mr. Gronquist has accepted. The vacancy occurred a few weeks ago, when Rev. Carl E. Lundgren, pastor of the two churches for 13 years, resigned.

NO CENSORSHIP

The Times-Mirror and other newspapers in the United States are not censored. They must not be, even should the emergency become more critical.

We have the word of Lowell Mellett, head of the Office of Government Reports; that no censorship is contemplated. We have the word of George Creel, who managed such matters during the World War, that it doesn't work anyway, even when "voluntary." Both men ought to know what they are talking about.

There can be only two reasons for censorship of newspapers. One is to manipulate people at home. The other is to keep information of military value away from possible enemies abroad. The first we don't want. The second is the sphere in which to operate.

Good sense indicates that information of military value shall not be passed on to enemies or potential enemies. That's the place for censorship. When a piece of information of value to a potential enemy becomes known, what happens? It is immediately passed on to the country interested.

Now military information is a perishable product, like fish. If not received in time, it's no good. Modern conditions being what they are, it can be assumed that no military secret can be kept forever. If it is delayed long enough, however, that is enough for practical purposes.

Thus it may be seen that censorship is apt to do the one thing it should not do; namely, becloud local opinion; while failing to do the thing it ought to do; namely, preventing the enemy or potential enemy from getting the information in time to do it any good.

Voluntary censorship keeps little news from going abroad, especially since the cables abroad are uncensored. Shortwave radio and the cables! Those are the points to choke off information going abroad, not censorship of American newspapers. True, such restriction is not air-tight. The news will sift abroad sooner or later, but probably too late to be of value.

That is the sort of restriction which Creel recommended, with his World War experience with voluntary censorship back of him. That is the sort of censorship, together with proper reticence at the source, which will do what needs to be done.

For free Americans, full information; for enemies or potential enemies, nothing. That is the general framework on which any arrangements for news coverage in an emergency should be worked out.

WILHELM II PASSES ON

Wilhelm II, once powerful emperor of Germany, whose passing is recorded in dispatches today, died without realizing his dream of restoration of the Hohenzollern dynasty, according to Louis P. Lochner, our Berlin correspondent, but almost to the very end followed enthusiastically the news of the German army's successes.

There even seemed to have been a reconciliation between the former kaiser and Adolf Hitler, who in frequent public speeches had criticized Wilhelm's regime.

It is recalled, the two exchanged messages on the conclusion of the Polish campaign in September, 1939, Wilhelm expressing admiration for the army which had always been dear to his heart, and which he continued to keep informed on by means of pin-flags and maps.

After the conquest of the Netherlands in May, 1940, Wilhelm declined an offer to return to Germany, saying he was too old to be "transplanted." This diplomatic reply failed to mention that from the moment of his exile more than 22 years ago, he had determined not to return to Germany unless his dynasty should be restored. It can be said authoritatively that Wilhelm never revisited the Fatherland.

His death came as he wished—without long suffering. He appeared vigorous when he observed his 82d birthday anniversary January 27, and it was only on May 25 that the intestinal and lung disturbances which resulted in his death became evident. Deeply religious, he is said to have often told his family and entourage that he was ready for death.

The North Warren Civic club, with a well-established reputation for doing things in a big way, put over another star attraction last evening in presenting Benny Friedman, famous grid star and coach, to members of the organization and three service clubs of Warren.

It was one of the most interesting and entertaining programs yet offered.

—AXIS ANNOUNCEMENT

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

Washington, June 4—If this sign-of-the-times department interprets correctly, there is increasing belief in some sections that the American defense effort is stuck in the mud and muck of petty intrigue.

If you believe all these portents, a cross section picture of Washington today is something like this: Army brass hats won't speak to Navy gold-bracers because the Navy claims it's all ready for anything, but has to mark time waiting for Army to catch up.

Army and Navy are both jealous of Knudsen's Office of Production Management and of the advisory authority which OPM possesses men have over the contract-letting of the armed services.

OPM dollar-a-year men, on the other hand, are supposed to be sniping at the Army and Navy because they are bottlenecks, holding up the awards of contracts necessary to putting the defense production machinery in high gear.

New Dealers are yapping at OPM men supposed to be reticent to scrap their "business as usual" beliefs and increase the productive plant of the country so that all-out, 24-hour, seven-day defense can get going.

And Army, Navy, OPM and the manufacturers in the land charge the New Dealers are codding labor, patronizing strikes, compromising with economy for the benefit of a bunch of no-account relievers while Labor counter-charges that OPM and the business men are using national defense as a vehicle to recoup profits and once more grow fat and sassy at the expense of the working people.

In the meantime, the President sits back with too many reins in his hands to do an effective job from the driver's seat.

If it were indeed the true picture of Washington today, the best procedure would seem to be giving up completely and asking Germany for terms, and just how much of South America would she like, please. But looking at this multiplicity of either intent to whitewash or smear with the double cross of red or brown paint, the scene is in no sense the blindfolded, battle royal, free-for-all slugging and back-stabbing brawl previously portrayed.

If some of these self-appointed critics, know-nothings and bellyachers were given the job to step in and show how the defense effort should be run, then you would see confusion.

The truth is that no one element of national defense is satisfied with its own effort.

Army and Navy procurement and supply officers are extremely critical of what they have done so far. The Army points justifiably to what happens when you put one too much speed, let contracts too fast and without examination or inspection. In cases of that kind, where Army contract officers have been told to shoot the works and never mind the cost, they get national disgraces like Camp Blanding built in a swamp, Fort Meade built on the wrong site to save a golf course at a cost of $10 million to much, or Fort Leonard Wood, which is one of the sorriest jobs of land gouging in public records. With these examples before you, if you were an army contract officer, could you sign a $100 million order for a new munitions plant with your eyes shut?

Similarly, no outfit in Washington has subjected itself to criticism and internal rows more than OPM. Donald Nelson, head of purchases, and William L. Batt, deputy director of production, have been two of the most vociferous exponents of doing a real job on defense, forgetting normal business for the duration.

Labor leaders have had to admit their inability to keep rank and file unions in line on defense jobs. (Turn To Page Twelve)

Vancouver Will Attract American Vacationists

CANADIAN vacationists will attract thousands of Americans this year. One of the most popular holiday spots will be Vancouver, the harbor of which is shown on the Canadian issue of 1937, above.

Vancouver harbor is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world. It is located in a deep inlet off the Strait of Georgia, on the southernmost extremity of the mainland. Trade is carried on, largely with Asiatic, Australian and American ports.

Before the war, great quantities of Canadian wheat were loaded on vessels in Vancouver harbor and shipped to Europe via the Panama Canal.

Besides its seaport activities, Vancouver is the center of the British Columbia lumber industry. Fishing and fruit canning industries are also located here.

Vancouver was incorporated in 1886 and was named after Capt. George Vancouver, a British naval officer.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You may have an amusing and instructive afternoon watching the housewives from uptown matching their bargaining wiles against the second-hand dealers of the lower East Side. These merchants, jobbers in junk, are nobody's fools, but when pitted against forces more aware of the value of the prize at stake they frequently are lucky to escape with their shirts.

Often the dealer, rejoicing over having sold a cracked plate for a dime, doesn't know that its purchaser is gloating over practically having stolen a precious specimen of Crown Derby china. It is really as exciting, on some afternoons, as a game between the Giants and the terrible Dodgers.

THE best places to find these skirmishes are in the downtown-at-the-heels shops of Staunton alley, Lidlow and Orchard streets. The stocks are taken, literally, from Manhattan's junk heaps. Dealers buy unclaimed trunks and boxes, unaware of their contents but guided by the shrewd notion that anything worth packing is worth owning. If somebody wanted it once, it has value.

On Staunton alley an old theater has been converted into stalls for dealers in these discarded possessions. With competition at its sharpest, each dealer employs his own system. One will be friendly and eager to please. His neighbor will feign an indifference to a customer and serve him only after the money is shown. Still another will show real antagonism, forbidding inspection of his wares and all but chasing the prospective buyer away. All are recognized sales strategists and all work.

The bargaining is never very coherent to the onlooker. Usually the women customers know the exact worth of the object under discussion—an old silver spoon, a rare bottle, a battered mirror. The dealer knows only that she wants it, and that if he remains stubborn long enough he will get something approximating the price he has fixed on it. In justice to the women, it must be said that they weaken less often than the dealers.

Many merchants actually seem to enjoy being humbled by the women. Perhaps this is good business, insuring their return, and, moreover, bargaining is a joy to them. But let a dealer from the antique shops of midtown try to exercise superior knowledge over these alley proprietors, and there is such a making of wits and of wits as can not be set down with propriety in a family newspaper. In sum, they will take anything from the women, but when the men come around, it's war.

NO CENSORSHIP

The Times-Mirror and other newspapers in the United States are not censored. They must not be, even should the emergency become more critical.

We have the word of Lowell Mellett, head of the Office of Government Reports; that no censorship is contemplated. We have the word of George Creel, who managed such matters during the World War, that it doesn't work anyway, even when "voluntary." Both men ought to know what they are talking about.

There can be only two reasons for censorship of newspapers. One is to manipulate people at home. The other is to keep information of military value away from possible enemies abroad. The first we don't want. The second is the sphere in which to operate.

Good sense indicates that information of military value shall not be passed on to enemies or potential enemies. That's the place for censorship. When a piece of information of value to a potential enemy becomes known, what happens? It is immediately passed on to the country interested.

Now military information is a perishable product, like fish. If not received in time, it's no good. Modern conditions being what they are, it can be assumed that no military secret can be kept forever. If it is delayed long enough, however, that is enough for practical purposes.

Thus it may be seen that censorship is apt to do the one thing it should not do: namely, becloud local opinion; while failing to do the thing it ought to do: namely, preventing the enemy or potential enemy from getting the information in time to do it any good.

Voluntary censorship keeps little news from going abroad, especially since the cables abroad are uncensored. Shortwave radio and the cables! Those are the points to choke off information going abroad, not censorship of American newspapers. True, such restriction is not air-tight. The news will sift abroad sooner or later, but probably too late to be of value.

That is the sort of restriction which Creel recommended, with his World War experience with voluntary censorship back of him. That is the sort of censorship, together with proper reticence at the source, which will do what needs to be done.

For free Americans, full information; for enemies or potential enemies, nothing. That is the general framework on which any arrangements for news coverage in an emergency should be worked out.

WILHELM II PASSES ON

Wilhelm II, once powerful emperor of Germany, whose passing is recorded in dispatches today, died without realizing his dream of restoration of the Hohenzollern dynasty, according to Louis P. Lochner, our Berlin correspondent, but almost to the very end followed enthusiastically the news of the German army's successes.

There even seemed to have been a reconciliation between the former kaiser and Adolf Hitler, who in frequent public speeches had criticized Wilhelm's regime.

It is recalled, the two exchanged messages on the conclusion of the Polish campaign in September, 1939, Wilhelm expressing admiration for the army which had always been dear to his heart, and which he continued to keep informed on by means of pin-flags and maps.

After the conquest of the Netherlands in May, 1940, Wilhelm declined an offer to return to Germany, saying he was too old to be "transplanted." This diplomatic reply failed to mention that from the moment of his exile more than 22 years ago, he had determined not to return to Germany unless his dynasty should be restored. It can be said authoritatively that Wilhelm never revisited the Fatherland.

His death came as he wished—without long suffering. He appeared vigorous when he observed his 82d birthday anniversary January 27, and it was only on May 25 that the intestinal and lung disturbances which resulted in his death became evident. Deeply religious, he is said to have often told his family and entourage that he was ready for death.

The North Warren Civic club, with a well-established reputation for doing things in a big way, put over another star attraction last evening in presenting Benny Friedman, famous grid star and coach, to members of the organization and three service clubs of Warren. It was one of the most interesting and entertaining programs yet offered.

—AXIS ANNOUNCEMENT

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

Washington, June 4—If this sign of the times department interprets correctly, there is increasing belief in some sections that the American defense effort is stuck in the mud and muck of petty intrigue.

If you believe all these portents, a cross section picture of Washington today is something like this: Army brass hats won't speak to Navy gold-bracers because the Navy claims it's all ready for anything, but has to mark time waiting for Army to catch up.

Army and Navy are both jealous of Knudsen's Office of Production Management and of the advisory authority which OPM business men have over the contract-letting of the armed services.

OPM dollar-a-year men, on the other hand, are supposed to be sniping at the Army and Navy because they are bottlenecks, holding up the awards of contracts necessary to putting the defense production machinery in high gear.

New Dealers are yapping at OPM men supposed to be reticent to scrap their "business as usual" beliefs and increase the productive plant of the country so that all-out, 24-hour, seven-day defense can get going.

And Army, Navy, OPM and all the manufacturers in the land charge the New Dealers are coddling labor, patronizing strikes, compromising with economy for the benefit of a bunch of no-account reliefers while Labor counter-charges that OPM and the business men are using national defense as a vehicle to recoup profits and once more grow fat and sassy at the expense of the working people.

In the meantime, the President sits back with too many reins in his hands to do an effective job from the driver's seat.

If this were indeed the true picture of Washington today, the best procedure would seem to be giving up completely and asking Germany for terms, and just how much of South America would she like, please. But looking at this muddle without either intent to whitewash or smear with the double cross of red or brown paint, the scene is in no sense the blindfolded, battle royal, free-for-all slugging and back-stabbing brawl previously portrayed.

If some of these self-appointed critics, know-it-alls and bellyachers were given the job to step in and show how the defense effort should be run, then you would see confusion.

The truth is that no one element of national defense is satisfied with its own effort.

Army and Navy procurement and supply officers are extremely critical of what they have done so far. The Army points justifiably to what happens when you put on too much speed, let contracts too fast and without examination or inspection. In cases of that kind, where Army contract officers have been told to shoot the works and never mind the cost, they get national disgraces like Camp Blanding built in a swamp, Fort Meade built on the wrong site to save a golf course at a cost of $10 million to much, or Fort Leonard Wood, which is one of the sorriest jobs of land gouging in public records.

With these examples before you, if you were an army contract officer, could you sign a $100 million order for a new munitions plant with your eyes shut?

Similarly, no outfit in Washington has subjected itself to criticism and internal rows more than OPM. Donald Nelson, head of purchases, and William L. Batt, deputy director of production, have been two of the most vociferous exponents of doing a real job on defense, forgetting normal business for the duration.

Labor leaders have had to admit their inability to keep rank and file unions in line on defense jobs. (Turn To Page Twelve)

Vancouver Will Attract American Vacationists

CANADIAN vacationlands will attract thousands of Americans this year. One of the most popular holiday spots will be Vancouver, the harbor of which is shown on the Canadian issue of 1937, above.

Vancouver harbor is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world. It is located in a deep inlet off the Strait of Georgia, on the southernmost extremity of the mainland. Trade is carried on largely with Asiatic, Australian and American ports.

Before the war, great quantities of Canadian wheat were loaded on vessels in Vancouver harbor and shipped to Europe via the Panama Canal.

Besides its seaport activities, Vancouver is the center of the British Columbia lumber industry. Fishing and fruit canning industries are also located here.

Vancouver was incorporated in 1886 and was named after Capt. George Vancouver, a British naval officer.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You may have an amusing and instructive afternoon watching the housewives from uptown matching their bargaining wiles against the second-hand dealers of the lower East Side. These merchants, jobbers in junk, are nobody's fools, but when pitted against forces more aware of the value of the prize at stake they frequently are lucky to escape with their shirts.

Often the dealer, rejoicing over having sold a cracked plate for a dime, doesn't know that its purchaser is gloating over practical and boxes stolen a precious specimen of Crown Derby china. It is really as exciting, on some afternoons, as a game between the Giants and the terrible Dodgers.

THE best places to find these skirmishes are in the downtown-heel shops of Staunton alley, Lidlows and Orchard streets. The stocks are taken, literally, from Manhattan's junk heaps. Dealers buy unclaimed trunks, contents but guided by the shrewd notion that anything worth packing is worth owning. If somebody wanted it once, it has value.

On Staunton alley an old theater has been converted into stalls for dealers in these discarded possessions. With competition at its sharpest, each dealer employs his own system. One will be friendly and eager to please. His neighbor will feign an indifference to a customer and serve him only after the money is shown. Still another will show real antagonism, forbidding inspection of his wares and all but chasing the prospective buyer away. All are recognized sales stratagems and all work.

The bargaining is never very coherent to the onlooker. Usually the women customers know the exact worth of the object under discussion—an old silver spoon, a rare bottle, a battered mirror. The dealer knows only that she wants it, and that if he remains stubborn long enough he will get something approximating the price he has fixed on it. In justice to the women, it must be said that they weaken less often than the dealers.

THE dealers almost always stock their wares at auction sales, not only of trunks, but of unclaimed articles of every shape, size, use, value, and denomination. They budget a certain sum—say $20 for a trunk. It is impossible to lose under so careful a system. Sometimes they enjoy a windfall. One dealer paid $13 for a trunk and it proved to be full of expensive lingerie. He insisted it was the cache of a shoplifter, and the good ladies from uptown had a devilish feeling of adventure as they hurried off with the supposed loot.

Many merchants actually seem to enjoy being humbled by the women. Perhaps this is good business, insuring their return, and, moreover, bargaining is a joy to them. But let a dealer from the antique shops of midtown try to exercise superior knowledge over these alley proprietors, and there is such a matching of wits and of epithets as can not be set down with propriety in a family newspaper. In sum, they will take anything from the women, but when the men come around, it's war.

Animals With Circus Are All One Big Happy Family

Are circus animals happy? An odd question, but it is often asked. An emphatic "yes" is the answer of animal keepers with Russell Bros. Greater Old Brewery Circus, coming to the Warren, Monday, June 9. Animals which perform in the circus have been carefully chosen because of their intelligence and adaptability to circus life. They become as enthusiastic troupers as human performers, and love the excitement of crowds, band music, and applause. They become deeply attached to their trainers, as is shown by such performers as Buddy the seal or Topsy the chimpanzee.

Wild animals exhibited in the menagerie represent a lesson in world geography as well as zoology, yet they seem to live more agreeably together than do the human representatives of their many native lands. Animals from every continent belong to this transient zoo, each a splendid physical specimen, receiving the utmost care. Zoological experts marvel at the fine condition of circus animals despite the fact that they are moved from city to city almost every day. Variation of climate presents a serious problem for the circus animal attendants, who often spend hours in a cage with a sick jungle charge. But because of their constant care, seldom does a beast die while the circus is on the road. View-seers are privileged to view the zoological displays in the menagerie and see the main circus performance for the same price of admission. Doors open at 1 and 7 p. m. to permit a leisurely inspection of the menagerie before the big show starts at 2 and 8.

To the Editor, Times-Mirror, Dear Sir:
The Warren Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of communications from the National Better Business Bureau, of which it is a member, calling attention to numerous projects being promoted to cash-in on the present wave of patriotism. The Bureau cautions business men to investigate all of these before investing. Specifically named in one of the recent letters are:
United Fund for Refugee Children (more than 80% of income to date has been used for "administration" expenses.)

U. S. Navy Magazine—Advertising being solicited on the plea that the magazine is owned and operated by navy men. It is stated by the bureau that the magazine is privately owned and has no connection with any government department.
R. A. F. Benevolent Fund of the U. S. A.
Maple Leaf Fund.
American Committee for Defense of British Homes.

The "Americanism Program" of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. The Purple Heart organization is a legitimate one; but in connection with the solicitation project it is understood that in some communities donations are being solicited, although the "contract" presented to donors or purchasers states "Positively no donations accepted" and bears a statement that the donation or purchase of books is "a commercial transaction and that this contract is not subject to cancellation."
A full report on the last-named is on file in the Chamber of Commerce and may be seen by any member, while reports on the others have been requested.

It is suggested that when unknown solicitors or salesmen call on local business men, the latter insist that the solicitor have credentials from this Chamber before giving time for an interview. Yours very truly,

The APPENDIX

The appendix is that little tube, which hangs down from the large intestine, like the finger of a glove. So far as medical science can learn, it serves no useful purpose.

Appendicitis is caused from germs or some substance becoming lodged in the appendix, and setting up an infection. The first apparent symptom of appendicitis is a "stomach ache," and not necessarily in the right side, which persists and progresses into the more acute symptoms with temperature and nausea. The appendix is already in an infected state, and taking purgatives is one of the MOST HARMFUL AND DANGEROUS things you can do. You might some time save a life by remembering this. If the pain persists more than half an hour, call your doctor and follow his advice implicitly and promptly.

An operation for appendicitis is comparatively simple when not delayed. Most fatalities result from taking violent purgatives, or delaying operation until the appendix has burst and spread the poison into the abdominal cavity. Do not endanger the life of a loved one by DEBATING, when your physician advises an operation for appendicitis.

DOUBLE COMEDY PROGRAM AT THE COLUMBIA THEATRE TODAY, THURS., FRI.

"Andy Hardy's Private Secretary"

Designed to strike a responsive cord in the hearts of all the family, "Andy Hardy's Private Secretary," opening at the Columbia Theatre today, Thurs., Fri., is heralded as destined to prove one of the most popular of the series.

The latest Hardy Family picture proves a milestone in the life of Andrew Hardy. It's plot, in brief, finds the young man deep in the duties as chairman of numerous senior committees, and being a Good Samaritan on the side to a couple of youngsters less fortunate than he. How he inadvertently causes a near tragedy in their family, and how, in spite of failing an English exam, he manages to be among those present when diplomas are handed out, makes for one of the most human screen documents of the year.

"Play Girl"

A beautiful young girl is induced against her wishes to assist a reckless adventurer fleece rich playboys of their money in "Play Girl," in which Kay Francis is starred as the adventurer. James Ellison has the masculine lead, while lovely Mildred Coles portrays the penniless working girl who agrees to combine her youth with the experience of a clever lady of leisure for the purpose of mulcting millions from indiscreet bachelors.

AN ARABIAN. Anne Willard, and the two men who are trying to get through the Emir's country with her, have apparently escaped that treacherous ruler—by the stratagem of marriage. But it looks as if the Emir may have double-crossed the other conspirators after all, for Anne, Blake Sherwood and Pete Mackey now are being taken rapidly into the Emir's country.

Chapter 13 Castle In The Desert

BLAZE was behind for perhaps half a mile, then reappeared at the carriage. "The camels are real enough," said Sherwood. "I see the 'hacks' mentioned in the story as if camels were young or padded down. I had a red passed here yesterday, and the same direction as the camels. It is not a good sign that there are no camels here. We would expect to find them about the end of the road," Anne asked.

"Our captain mentioned it but there's no trace of it in this stretch. We seem to be headed for the center of the desert," "So what?" "I don't know," he admitted. "The camels are not here. They have been returned, although the camels of our luggage are strapped to the back of the carriage."

"Do you suspect treachery?" Anne asked. "If the lama could prove it, you would find me with a sword at the end of my journey." Sherwood took her hand in both of his and held it on his knee. "Doddad," he reminded her, "is not a thief and he likes to be mis-erious at times."

She nodded. "Tears and talk of a scarab ring from her finger and tried fitting it on her hand. She became conscious of the black and to the west. The haze in his hair stood out like a banner. A special individual in an unbroken night. The ring was a small, round, dark stone. She felt a bit of a shock. The sun sank out of the dunes and entered a region of low, brown, clay ridges. He smiled and passed her hand and returned it to her, having discovered the ring was much too large. His indirect love-making had a way of creeping up on her in surprise attack. She caught herself looking back to Mackey for moral support. He waved and she responded.

Sherwood smiled again as if aware of her reaction and began telling her some of his experience in far corners of the world. The sun sank toward the Bekkan Bula mountains that had begun to loom on the far horizon before she rode from the spell of his words. It had been like a journey back into childhood, to the dear, familiar times when her parents came home from some extended expedition and related their experiences. They always promised, "When you grow up and finish college you may come with us." She told Sherwood about it.

"I can see that child," he said gently, scrutinizing her face, "big eyes—wistful, luminous with longing, little chin aquiver because she was going to be left alone again."

"Silly of me," she admitted, "I lived only for the time when I should grow up." "That explains Dr. O!" he sopped suddenly as if realizing he was about to speak private thoughts aloud. "Where are they taking us?" "That's what I'd like to know. When do we reach Chuka?" she demanded and poked the footman impatiently. The man whirled eyes glowing teeth bared fists clenched in self defense. Then he grinned apologetically. "He's a bit of a fellow," Anne who had attacked him "Chuka," she repeated "Chuka Chuka." He offered her the water skin. "He thanks you're choking," joked Sherwood, and they were back on the old familiar footing again.

Below them lay an oblong basin shaped like the bowl of a white dish with a brown clay rim that had been molded and baked by a giant potter and then broken at one end from the upthrust of a granite cliff beside which a creeping sand dune was beginning to invade the basin. The remarkable thing, however, was a little blue lake lying in the bottom of the bowl.

"Water," cried Anne. "In a bed of salt," supplemented Sherwood grimly. Beside the upthrust cliff stood a large pavilion tent flying the colors of Yangsar. At one side burned a fire before which servants were tending. Several camels were tethered near by. "Castle in the desert," muttered Sherwood. "How beautiful," Anne exclaimed, "and how strange—as if it were the landscape of another planet!" Sherwood regarded it with a more somber gaze.

The afterglow was dimming rapidly as they descended into the basin. Lanterns had been hung in the tent when they arrived. Anne and Sherwood walked down to the water's edge, crunching salt under their feet.

"It's almost thick," she said, feeling the fluid. Then the twilight faded and the moon became visible high in the sky. He spied water springing from the rock wall of the cliff and falling in a veil of mist. "Look," he pointed. They went over to the little stream that dove the feet into the lake. Sherwood tasted it. "Cool and fresh," he said. Anne drank eagerly from his cupped hands.

"Heavenly after that stuff, in the goat skin bag," she murmured. When they returned to the tent the riders had arrived. Mackey lay on the piled rugs in the tent, trying to find a yet softer place. Of all the new twists that came, Mackey intended, he moaned. She could give shuffling pointers to a darky hoodwink.

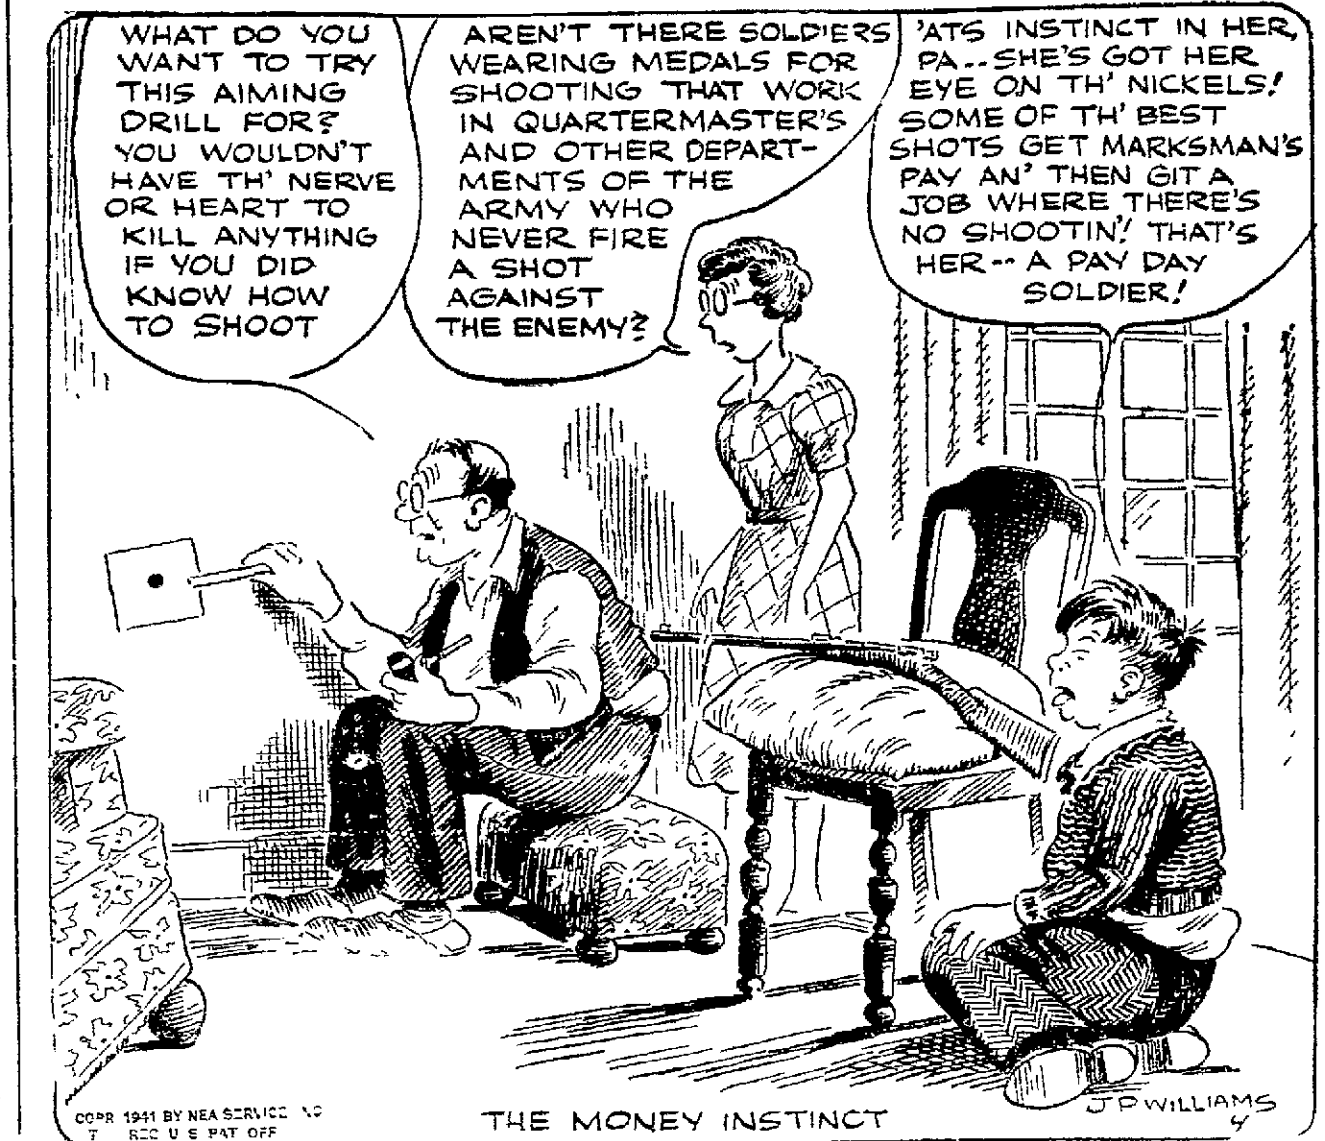

Sherwood scrutinized the bales and boxes lining the walls of the tent. "The bride's dowry," he said. "Then this," murmured Mackey significantly, "must be the castle in the desert." Sherwood looked at him. "Have you any idea what the old devil's up to?" Mackey shook his head. "The games beyond me. At least we eat," as a servant brought in a low table.

"Let's take a swim first," suggested Anne restlessly. He gave her a reproachful glance. "Girl, you're asking me to go through all the motions of standing up and walking to the water." "A plunge will do you good," Sherwood advised. "It appears that we're here to stay for a while." The two men looked at each other. "Eat, drink and be merry, eh?" "For all I know," agreed Sherwood. Do they really think that tomorrow we die? Anne wondered, her pulses suddenly beginning to race. There was something electric in the air. Mackey got to his feet. "Where's my warbag? You got a pair of swimming trunks for yourself?" "I have," said Sherwood, "unless one of the Emir's servants like the look of them."

OUR BOARDING HOUSE . . with . . Major Hoople OUT OUR WAY By Williams

by Rita Moller Hansen

YESTERDAY: Anne Willard, and the two men who are trying to get through the Emir's country with her, have apparently escaped that rapacious ruler — by the strategem of marriage. But the strategem of marriage has doubledcrossed his American prisoners after all, for Anne, Blase Sherwood and Pete Mackey now are being driven rapidly into desolate country.

Chapter 13
Castle In The Desert

BLAZE walked behind for perhaps half a mile, then re-entered the carriage. "The camel's real enough," said Sherwood. "I see his tracks mingled with our own animals' as well as older tracks as if camels heavy with young or loaded down with packs had passed here yesterday going the same direction. But we meet no one, and there are no returning tracks. It is possible that there are wild camels about, which would explain the sign."

"What's that about the old Thieves' Road around the end of the river?" Anne asked.

"Our captain mentioned it but there's no indication this stretch we're on has ever been a highway. We seem to be headed for the center of the Depression."

"So what?"

"I don't know," he admitted. "Mackey and my revolvers were taken away from us and they haven't been returned, although the balance of our luggage is strapped to the back of the carriage."

"Do you suspect treachery?" Anne asked. "If the lama could predict that you would find me why couldn't he predict the end of this journey?"

Sherwood took her hand in both of his and held it on his knee. "Doddad," he murmured, "it's not a trick, and he likes to be mysterious at times."

She nodded. "Tears and talk of paradise."

He removed a scarab ring from his finger and tried fitting it on her hand.

She became conscious of how black and thick were the lashes that shaded his gray eyes. The blaze in his hair stood out like the banner of a special individuality. An unbidden thought entered her mind that there was a man who should father extremely handsome daughters. She felt a blush.

They passed out of the dunes and entered a region of low brown clay ridges. He smiled and patted her hand and returned it to her, having discovered the ring was much too large. His indirect love-making had a way of creeping in up on her in surprise attack. She caught herself looking back to Mackey for moral support. He waved and she responded.

Sherwood smiled again as if aware of her reaction and began telling her some of his experience in far corners of the world.

The sun sank towards the Bekkan Bula mountains that had begun to loom on the far horizon before she roused from the spell of his words. It had been like a journey back into childhood, to the dear, familiar times when her parents came home from some extended expedition and related their experiences. They always promised, "When you grow up and finish college you may come with us." She told Sherwood about it.

"I can see that child," he said, gently scrutinizing her face. "big eyes — wistful, luminous with longing, little chin aquiver because she was going to be left alone again."

"Silly of me," she admitted, "I lived only for the time when I should grow up."

"That explains Dr. O!" he stopped, suddenly as if realizing he was about to speak private thoughts aloud. "Where are they taking us?"

"That's what I'd like to know. When do we reach Chuka?" she demanded and poked the footman impatiently.

The man whirled, eyes glowing, teeth bared, fists clenched in self defense. Then he grinned apologetically when he saw it was Anne who had attacked him. "Chuka," she repeated. "Chuka, Chuka."

He offered her the water skin. "He thinks you're choking," joked Sherwood, and they were back on the old familiar footing again.

Night Stop

ONE of the soldiers came up with three fresh camels they had been leading. These were harnessed to the carriage and continued the journey at a swift pace hour after hour until these animals in turn were drooping wearily. If Sherwood was disturbed he did not show it, but laughed and talked with Anne in his usual bantering way.

Once, she noticed a twinkle in his eyes and became aware that his fingers rested on her pulse. She drew her hand away with a swift movement.

"Have you ever tried to find the pulse of a native inhabitant of this country?" he asked smilingly.

"Why should I?"

He went on. "The skin is so thick that the pulse is almost undetectable. I've heard of a local tyrant who had leather gloves made of the skin of a particular enemy."

"Nice people," remarked Anne. As the sun sank their tired camels drew them to the top of a final clay ridge and stopped as if they, also, wished to take in the view before going the last weary half mile.

The Swim

"THEN this," murmured Mackey significantly, "must be the castle in the desert."

Sherwood looked at him. "Have you any idea what the old devil's up to?"

Mackey shook his head. "The game's beyond me. At least we eat," as a servant brought in a low table.

"Let's take a swim first," suggested Anne restlessly.

He gave her a reproachful glance. "Girl, you're asking me to go through all the motions of standing up and walking to the water?"

"A plunge will do you good," Sherwood advised. "It appears that we're here to stay for a while."

The two men looked at each other. "Eat, drink and be merry, eh?"

"For all I know," agreed Sherwood.

Do they really think that tomorrow we die? Anne wondered, her pulses suddenly beginning to race. There was something electric in the air. Mackey got to his feet.

"Where's my warbag? You got a pair of swimming trunks for yourself?"

"I have," said Sherwood, "unless one of the Emir's servants like the looks of them."

"What color?"

"Black."

"You've got them. Now if they've been fuchsia — or green and magenta striped —"

Anne opened her suitcases that had been placed inside the tent. "Where can one find privacy?" she asked.

Mackey looked around. "There sure isn't much cover in this crater. You might try the shadow of a camel."

Sherwood had begun letting down the tent front. "Come on Pete. Anne can change in here while we take the whole outdoors."

Then he thought of something and returned. "Let me open your bag." When it lay open he asked, "What color?"

"Black. I can —"

"Let me." He lifted the folded clothing carefully.

Mackey came and watched. "What's this?" asked Anne suddenly. "A customs inspection?"

Mackey grinned. "Our good friend the Emir, has been known to smuggle deadly little desert vipers into the possession of people he does not like."

Anne shivered and stepped back.

"There are none here," Sherwood declared, handing her the bathing suit and closing the bag. "Is it safe," she queried, "to leave the dagger here while I swim?"

"I think so. Remember it is as inviolate as your person to these people." The men went through their own luggage and then stepped outside.

When Anne was ready she strapped her bathing cap under her chin, wrapped a long coat around her, called and stepped out.

Both men pointed simultaneously to her fiery toenails.

With bulging eyes the servants and riders watched the three, as they waded into the lake hand in hand, and made no effort to restrain them.

"One thing," murmured Sherwood, "we can't sink."

"Drowning might be a good way to die," said Anne. "I'd prefer it to torture."

Last Rites For Lou Gehrig Held Today; High Tributes Paid

By GAIL TALBOT
New York, June 4.—(P)—The last sad sentences were recited over Lou Gehrig early today in a little vine-covered church around the corner from his home in the Bronx.

The wasted body of the great Yankee first baseman who died Monday night after a brave two-year fight against an unsolved disease rested in a handsome mahogany coffin oaked by thousands of blooms as the Rev. Gerald Barry spoke the burial office of the Episcopal church.

There was no music and the ritual was at a minimum conforming with the request of Mrs. Gehrig. Only those with invitations were admitted to the final rites. The public has expressed its sorrow last night in a line of men, women and children that walked past Lou's coffin before the altar for two hours.

Later today the body was to be cremated. Mrs. Gehrig had made no plans for disposal of the ashes, but there was to be nothing morbidly spectacular such as strewing them over the Yankee Stadium. Mrs. Gehrig and Lou's parents, long prepared for his death, wanted an end to the sorrow.

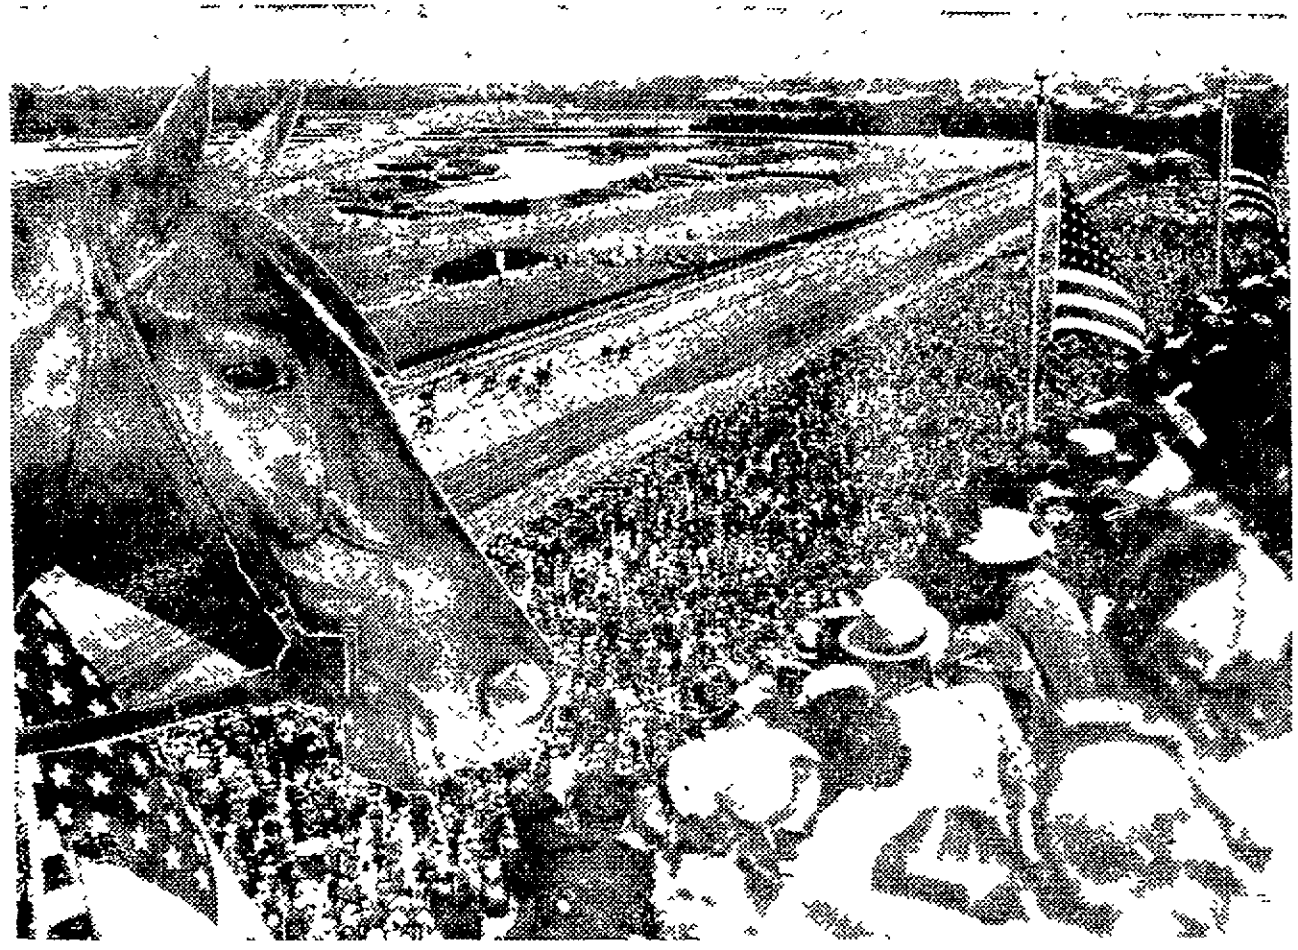

Last night they stood for hours receiving the condolences of hundreds of persons prominent in baseball and public life including Lou's closest associates who hurried here by plane and train upon learning of his death.

Babe Ruth who preceded Gehrig in those famous Yankee batting orders, reached the little church last night just before dawn. With him was Bill Klem, veteran National League umpire.

Babe stood for a minute looking at his former teammate, whose handsome face showed only slight evidence of the disease that had paralyzed and wasted the rest of his body. Tears welled into Ruth's eyes and ran down his fat cheeks. He stumbled over into a corner and buried his face in his arms.

The baseball men who gathered in knots outside the church last night took turns paying tribute to Gehrig as a player and as a man and in lamenting that an athlete so big and so vital should

Detroit Tops Yanks 4-2; Dodgers Again Tie Up Senior Loop

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
You look at the National League pitching averages today, at the record of John Whitlow Wyatt, and you wonder whether that song-writer didn't have the Tigers, the White Sox and the Indians in mind when he turned out that little thing about the "three blind mice."

The lean chucker from Chickamauga is wearing the same right arm now as he wore back in the '30s. Yet those three American League clubs all brushed him off. They couldn't see his stuff for four apples. And right now Wyatt's the hottest thing to hit the National League since Frankie Fusch blasted his first umpire.

All that John Whitlow's doing is winning the whitewashing championship of the major leagues as he tosses those bewildering Brooklyn Dodgers to the top of the National League pile. He turned in a snappy six-hitter yesterday to sink the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-0. This not only put the Dodgers back up into a tie with the Cards for first place, but also marked the fourth time this year Wyatt has dished out a dainty set of goose-eggs.

Wyatt's sparkling tossing was the most important of a parade of Grade-A elbowing efforts turned loose yesterday.

Tommy Hughes, the latest prize bit of bric-a-brac to pop up with the Phillies, turned in a one-hit job that moved down the Chicago Cubs, 7-0. Laughing Lou Novikoff got the only hit.

Another youngster, Bob Carpenter, made even Bill Terry smile by serving up a five-hitter to give the Grants a 7-3 win over the Cincinnati Reds in a game marked by four homers.

Over in the American League, Steve Peck gave four runs to the Detroit Tigers in the first inning and then settled down to pitch a four-hit shutout the rest of the way. However, it was a case of locking the door after the mule got out and the Tigers trounced the New York Yankees 4-2, behind Dizzy Trout's eight-hit effort.

Only at Boston, and of course, St. Louis, did the pitchers come a dime a dozen. The Pittsburgh Pirates used two hurlers to four for the Braves and won a free-for-all 9 to 5 affair. The Browns and the Washington Senators both had their bull-pens working overtime under the arc-lights, in a game the home boys won, 14-12, by scoring nine runs in the fifth inning. The clubs made a total of 38 hits.

The Boston-Cleveland night game and the Philadelphia-Chicago day doings in the American League were rained out.

Though they would have preferred right-hand hitter when Hank Greenberg was inducted into army, Detroit Tigers gave St. Louis Browns $25,000 for Outfielder Rip Radcliff, above, who swings from other side. After all, the Oklahoman never did care especially whether right or left-hander was pitching.

No Doubleheader at Irvine Next Sunday

The scheduled doubleheader between the Lindy-Miles All Stars, of Endicott, N. Y., and the National Forge which was to be played on Wilder Field Irvine, next Sunday afternoon, was canceled late yesterday by Business Manager Jimmy Kanen, of the Forge.

The All Stars lost a doubleheader last week at Meadville to Mike Cannavino's Pioneers by scores of 6-2, and 7-0. The reason for cancellation of Sunday's bargain bill was failure of the All Stars to strengthen their lineup after last week's exhibition.

Another game or doubleheader may be scheduled later in the season. The Forge now are undecided as to their plans for the weekend, but it is probable they will go to Erie to play the Erie White Sox, a semi-pro colored combination.

BYRON NELSON REIGNS AS LONE OPEN FAVORITE

BY BILL BONI
Fort Worth, Tex., June 4.—(P)—Byron Nelson, the likable P. G. A. champion, is riding a rising tide of popular favor that appears ready to make him No. 1 choice for the U. S. Open Golf championship about the time the first round gets started tomorrow morning.

Everywhere you go, whether you ask player, sideline expert or pure spectator, the name that almost invariably comes to their lips first is that of the long, lean Toledo pro who came up like a rocket from the coddie pen at Fort Worth's Glen Garden Club.

Off the way Nelson was playing in practice at the Colonial Club yesterday, when he and Lawson Little finished all-square with the "old masters." Gene Sarazen and Tommy Armour, he'll give anybody a good run for his money.

Baseball players will come and go, but never will there be one, not has there been one, who was better liked and a better ball player than the "Iron Horse," Lou Gehrig, who was the pride of New York in his colorful days with the Yankees. Gehrig was a sportsman, he knew the meaning of fair play, and abided by it. Through his fifteen consecutive years with the Bronx Bombers, Lou became known as the "Iron Horse" because of his endurance and power, at which ball fans marveled. Now, as the entire baseball world mourns his passing, all of baseball's great characters who knew him well comment upon Gehrig and what a fine fellow he was. Kenesaw M. Landis, Commissioner of Baseball, remarked, "Gehrig was not only a great ball player, but a real gentleman, whose conduct on and off the field set a standard to which all players may well aspire. His passing came as a real shock to me."

Babe Dahlgren, who succeeded Gehrig when he was finally forced to give up the game, took the player's angle and recalled how Lou had helped him break into the Yankee lineup, then said, "But he didn't help me alone, he helped everybody—he was baseball and everything it stands for."

President Ford Flick of the National League stated, "Baseball can ill afford to lose such men as Lou. They just don't come any more."

And from Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics: "I got to know Lou Gehrig very well and considered him one of the finest characters in and out of baseball. I regret his death exceedingly. At his peak he was the outstanding first baseman of all time."

And so on throughout the nation came these short little comments in sympathy over the death of Gehrig, who we would call the real "man of the people," a kind and honest gentleman, who played ball all the time, on and off the diamond. Lou will never be gone, wherever close baseball followers are concerned, for his marvelous records will never let him die.

Stakes and balls. Although Mike Jacobs' fights were contracted to switch networks June 1, NBC will not discontinue ring-side broadcasts. The first of NBC's new fightcasts will be aired Friday night when Lou Nova and Jim Robinson meet in a ten-rounder in Minneapolis.

The Conn-Louis tussle comes over MBS on June 18, the new network in the fight circle. Thomas F. Couling, of Dunkirk, who perhaps is remembered by some local fight fans for his prominence as a lightweight and welterweight boxer in the early part of the century, has passed on. Couling at one time fought Frank Erne, once lightweight champion of the world. Gehrig's funeral was held today and his former room mate, Bill Dickey, was an honorary pallbearer. John Patrick, star quarterback with last year's Penn State team, has returned a signed contract to play with the Pittsburgh Steelers in the National Pro League this fall. It is reported Outfielder Rip Radcliff cost the Detroit Tigers $25,000 when they bought him recently from the Browns.

The "Y" tennis courts are completed and a summer tennis membership is really not expensive. Ed Hasler, physical director, plans running some competitive events on the clay this summer, and it looks like a comeback for tennis.

Last Rites For Lou Gehrig Held Today; High Tributes Paid

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York, June 4.—(P)—The last sad sentences were recited over Lou Gehrig early today in a little vine-covered church around the corner from his home in the Bronx.

The wasted body of the great Yankee first baseman who died Monday night after a brave two-year fight against an unsolved disease rested in a handsome mahogany coffin banked by thousands of blooms as the Rev. Gerald Barry spoke the burial office of the Episcopal church.

There was no music and the ritual was at a minimum, conforming with the request of Mrs. Gehrig. Only those with invitations were admitted to the final rites. The public had expressed its sorrow last night in a line of men, women and children that walked past Lou's coffin before the altar for two hours.

Later today the body was to be cremated. Mrs. Gehrig had made no plans for disposal of the ashes, but there was to be nothing morbidly spectacular, such as strewing them over the Yankee Stadium. Mrs. Gehrig and Lou's parents, long prepared for his death, wanted an end to the sorrowing.

Last night they stood for hours receiving the condolences of hundreds of persons prominent in baseball and public life, including Lou's closest associates, who hurried here by plane and train upon learning of his death.

Babe stood for a minute looking at his former teammate, whose handsome face showed only slight evidence of the disease that had paralyzed and wasted the rest of his body. Tears welled into Ruth's eyes and ran down his fat cheeks. He stumbled over into a corner and buried his face in his arms.

The baseball men who gathered in knots outside the church last night took turns paying tribute to Gehrig as a player and as a man and in lamenting that an athlete so big and so vital should have fallen victim of a mysterious, incurable malady.

Manager Joe McCarthy, it was recalled, paid the greatest tribute of all to Gehrig when, in the spring of 1939, he declined to remove Lou from his line-up, even though it was apparent to everyone that the great first baseman had slipped badly and was doing neither himself nor the club any good. "Gehrig can play first base as long as he wants to," McCarthy was recalled to have said.

McCarthy flew in from Detroit late yesterday, as did Bill Dickey, the Yankee catcher, who was Gehrig's roommate and closest friend for many years. Telegrams poured in from every part of the country.

Gehrig, who earned in the neighborhood of $400,000 in his baseball career and who shares with Ruth most of the game's slugging records, already is in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, so there is little more that can be done to prove his place in the hearts of fans.

In time there probably will be a monument to his memory in Yankee Stadium, but that is not important. The thousands who walked past and told him goodbye last night pretty well summed up the feeling about Lou.

TOT'S PINAFORE AND SUN-BONNET
Pattern 4330
By ANNE ADAMS

You can dress your little girl in those demure old-fashioned styles that are currently so popular—and still let her romp in perfect, cool comfort! Here's proof, in Pattern 4330 by Anne Adams—a pinafore and a bonnet that are really charming. The pinafore, useful as an apron too, buttons snugly down the back; its perky skirt is gathered below a trim waistband. Crisp ruffles fringe out from the edges of the bodice and an optional sash may tie in back. The piquant bonnet has a wide, protecting eyeshade and under-the-chin ties. Last of all simple little one-piece panties are included. Choose a vivid, crisp cotton for this style... Add gay ricrac... and use the Sewing Instructor to speed your stitches!

Pattern 4330 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10. Size 6, entire ensemble, takes 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Pattern 4330

By ANNE ADAMS

You can dress your little girl in those demure old-fashioned styles that are currently so popular—and still let her romp in perfect, cool comfort! Here's proof, in Pattern 4330 by Anne Adams—a pinafore, dress and a bonnet that are really charming. The pinafore, useful as an apron too, buttons saucily down the back; its perky skirt is gathered below a trim waistband. Crisp ruffles flare out from the edges of the bodice and an optional sash may tie in back. The pigtail bonnet has a wide, protecting eyeshade and under-the-chin ties. A set of all simple little one-piece panties are included. Choose a vivid, crisp cotton for this style... Add gay ricrac... and use the Sewing Instructor to speed your stitches!

Pattern 4330 is available in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, and 10. Size 6, entire ensemble, takes 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric.

OPEN CAMPAIGN FOR CHILDREN'S AID IN COUNTY

Today marks the beginning of the annual campaign for membership in the only countywide child-caring agency, the Children's Aid Society of Warren County. The following letter is in the mail to many of the former patrons and members and is printed here in an effort to reach the attention of all who may wish to contribute.

June 4, 1931.
To Friends of the Children's Aid Society:

Will you help us in our work with the children of Warren county? Do you know that the Children's Aid Society provides for the well-being of the child in his own home as well as the child who needs a substitute home? In the past year, we have also made it possible for more than one hundred children throughout the county to be given needed health services both physical and mental. These services begin in infancy and extend throughout the school life of the child.

Since we receive no financial assistance from any community fund, we depend upon the generosity of our friends to carry on our work. For the child who otherwise would have little chance for security or happiness, your membership contribution will open the door to a new life.

Can we depend upon you? Sincerely yours,
Mildred Blair,
Membership Chairman.

Contributions may be mailed to the office of the Children's Aid Society in the Warren county court house.

SHENANDOAH VISITORS

Shenandoah National Park, in Virginia, had 950,807 visitors in 1940, as compared to 911,612 the preceding year. These visitors used 284,381 private automobiles to make Shenandoah park first in the visiting list for national parks and monuments.

ABOUT CELERY

Celery stalks are naturally as green as the leaves. Growers pile mounds of earth about the stalks to protect them from sunlight. This bleaching makes the stalks more tender and tasty.

A sponge is an animal. Ancient scientists disagreed for many years as to whether they were members of the animal or vegetable kingdom, but in 1925 it was correctly classified as a low-type animal.

Labor itself is split right down the middle.

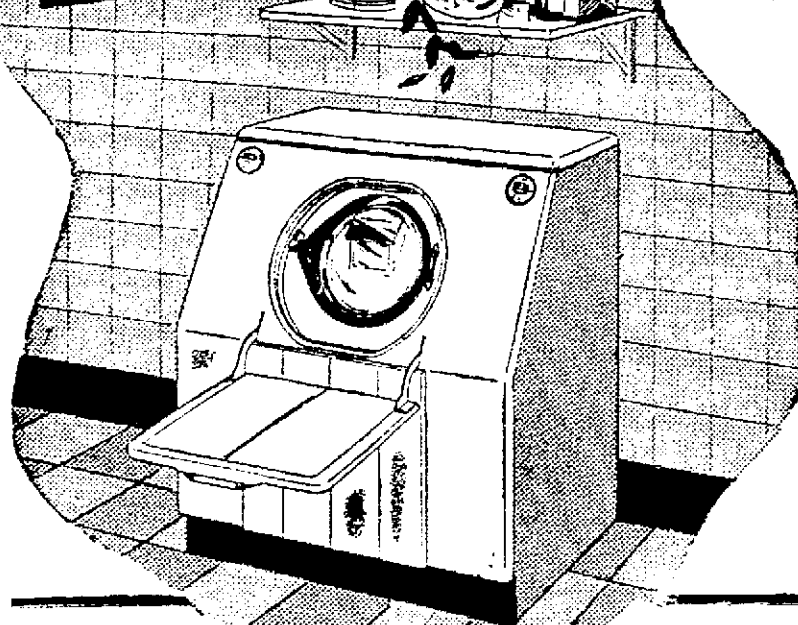

So without apologizing for the mistakes made, it is entirely reasonable to say that all this criticism is a healthy sign. When a trainer is conditioning a fighter for his big battle, there comes a time when the fighter's nerves are all on edge. He crabs at the foot, murders his sparring partners, snaps at his pappy and fires his manager every day. Maybe we're in that process.

Navy claims it is ahead of schedule on all defense work.

As to the Army's record in contracting for its tremendous expansion, 91 per cent of all the money appropriated to it has been placed on contract and the reminder is under negotiations. For the year ending June 30, Congress has authorized money for the Army in an original and five supplemental appropriation bills. On the original bill and the first three supplemental bills, totaling $6.6 billions, 99 per cent of the contracts have been let. The fourth and fifth supplemental bills have been passed less than seven weeks, yet for all six bills, 96 per cent of the air contracts have been let, 96 per cent of the ordnance contracts have been let, and 100 per cent of the contracts for new facilities have been let. That's hardly what you'd call holding up the contracts.

I look for Clevelanders to make a good showing at the summer session of the National Tournament, which will be held at Asbury Park, N. J., the week of August 4. A large number of representative players of Cleveland will attend the nationals.

Mrs. H. J. White and Mrs. Hugh Fullerton, if they happen to pair up for the Women's Pair game, should give a fine account of themselves. They recently won the Ohio State Women's Pair event and Mrs. White and Willis Fulton won my trophy for the Ohio State Mixed Pair championship for the second time.

Mrs. White is quick on the trigger when it comes to doubling, but she can defend a hand, as shown in the following example.

It is easy to say that East's heart bid was rash, but certainly many weaker overcalls are made without running into such disaster.

After taking the ace of clubs, Mrs. White led the seven, and North cashed two more clubs, South discarding a diamond. North then led a spade and Mrs. White gathered two spade tricks. The diamond return gave North two tricks in that suit, and when North led the third diamond East desperately played the jack of hearts. But South over-ruffed with the king, exited with a spade, and later won a second trump trick with the nine. Unhappy East was set 1100 points.
